IEEE Electron Devices Society Ph.D. Student Fellowship Program

The IEEE Electron Devices Society (EDS) established the Ph.D. Student Fellowship Program to promote, recognize, and support graduate level study and research within EDS.

At least one fellowship will be awarded to students in each of the following geographical regions every year: Americas, Europe/Mid-East/Africa, Asia-Pacific.

The field of interest for EDS is all aspects of the physics, engineering, theory and phenomena of electron and ion devices such as elemental and compound semiconductor devices, organic and other emerging materials-based devices, quantum effect devices, optical devices, displays and imaging devices, photovoltaics, solid-state sensors and actuators, solid-state power devices, high frequency devices, micromechanics, tubes and other vacuum devices. Award of $5,000 to the student, and if necessary, funds are also available to assist in covering travel and accommodation cost to attend the IEEE International Electron Devices Meeting (IEDM) for presentation of an award plaque.

Deadline: May 15th
